MAY, NINETEEN HUNDRED TWENTY ONE

Dedication

We, the Seniors of 1921, whole-heartedly dedicate this, the third volume of the DeLanois, to Harry F. Merry, director of the High School Orchestra and Band, who has so wisely and patiently labored to bring those organizations to their present high standing

Greeting

May the 1921 DeLanois be to every student of the DeLand Township High School, a fitting memorial of one of life's happiest years—a year in which we as Seniors have caught a vision of larger service to our country and our fellows. May these pages recall joys of school days and quicken the desire in our hearts to do our best to make a better America.

Mistory of the DeLand Cotonship Higg School

January twentieth, nineteen hundred twenty-one marked the beginning of school work in the new building of the De-Land Township Fligh School. This school has had a most interesting history

The law is that a petition must be circulated and signed by one fifth of the noters of a certain district before anything else can be done towards securing a township high school. Such a petition was circulated by E. T. McMillen and was filed in the county superintendent's office August 13, 1915. An election to vote on the district was held. After this, permission was given to elect a board of education. The board then elected consisted of J. B. Porterfield, now in Arrowsmith, president L. A. Crown, secretary, M. F. McMillen, C. H. Porter, H. E. Bickel R. B. Hubbart and W. T. Haggard.

This board made plans for a building and secured an option on ten acres of land where the building now stands. Because of disagreements and arguments as to the legality of the proceedings, the matter was taken to the courts, the state supreme court decided that the actions made were unconstitutional. In the apring of 1917, a law called the validating act was passed. This gave to those high school distincts already organized, permission to go on with their work. Since our district was or ganized at the time of this act, preparations were continued. The board of education took charge of the school in the spring of 1918, when there were three teachers employed. The following fall two more teachers were hired and the next year one more was added and the school took over the management of the orchestra.

The high school did not which is number 112 consists of 54 sections, six sections wide and nine sections long. Three and one-half sections are in Dewitt county, the rest in Piatt. This district includes an sections in Blue Ridge and all of Goose Creek except the nine in the southwest corner.

The present board of education is as follows: W. E. Leischner, president, C. H. Porter, Christian Lubbers, M. F. McMilen, C. L. Gilmore, J. H. Dresback, and J. E. Hiett, secretary The building and grounds committee consists of M. F. McMilen, J. E. Hiett, C. H. Porter and C. L. Gilmore, The committee on finance is J. H. Dresback, C. L. Gilmore and M. F. McMillen, C. L. Gilmore, Christian Lubbers and C. H. Porter comprise the study and text book committee. J. E. Hiett, J. H. Dresback and M. F. McMillen employ the teachers, and C. H. Porter, J. E. Hiett and J. H. Dresback have charge of all supplies.

Five acres of land on which the option was secured were bought. The contract for the building was let in October 1919, to the W. A. Pillinger Co. of Chicago, and work was begun on November 10th of that year. The building was to have been completed by September 1, 1920, but because of various delays it was not ready for occupancy until January

The building is a large two story brick structure and is very well planned for convenience. The complete plans call for a large wing to be built on the west end to correspond to the one on the east. The building is fitted with the best of equipment. The water system is complete, the kitchen and laboratory are furnished with gas, and a good library has been started. The economics and agriculture departments have much new equipment. Athletics and physical training are amply provided for

Our school is recognized by the state and accredited with the University of Illinois. This enables our graduates to enter without examination, any college of the state

The present attendance is about 79. At one time during the year the attendance was 84.

h student must have sixteen credits to graduate. To enter the University of Illinois, he must have the following credits three in English, one in Aigebra, one in Plane Geometry, one in either Physics, Chemistry, Botany, Zoology, of Physiology, and one credit in laboratory work. There are three courses given in the curriculum of the school, the acade nuc, the home economics, and agriculture courses

It is expected that next year a commercial and a manual training course will be added

The purpose of the home economics course and the agriculture courses is not to teach the pupils how to cook or farm, but to teach them the science of such things. These courses tell them why various principles are true. Each pupil is required to take two hours per week of physical training. This is to give the students a system of daily exercises to build up their bodies.

The school supports a band and an orchestra, which are considered of the best in this part of the state for a high school of this size. Each year a county oratorical contest is held and contestants from each school in the county take part. Last year the contestants from this school brought home some of the honors, it is hoped that the results this year will at least be a good.

A high school Annual is published each year by the Senior Class. This publication tells of the different school activities for the year and gives a good idea of school life.

On Friday, January 28, a reception was given for the purpose of giving the people an opportunity to inspect the new building. Students conducted the visitors over the building and explained things to them. The reception was from an to eight o'clock. At eight o'clock a musical program by the band and orchestra under the direction of Mr. Merry, was given in follows:

Senior Class Distory

(By the Assembly Desk)

It has been my pleasure to watch a large number of classes, as they journey through four years of high school life. Of this great number. I became most interested in the Class of Twenty-one

It was a "wee tim'rous" class of nine Freshman that entered high school in the fall of nineteen hundred and seventeen. They were the first Freshmen to enter the DeLand Township High School. The Seniors did not seem to think that they were so green, for I could see Senior boys firting with 'Freshie' girls. A trip to the dictionary was much enjoyed by Freshmen girls, for then they could sit with Senior boys. Four members of the class were characters in the play "Claim Allowed". Hark, I can still hear the munc! "Inx Freshmen were members of the orchestra.

As Sophomores, the Class was increased by one; an Egyptian" had been allowed to enter. The Geometry II Class was, according to Mr. Simer, the best that he had ever taught. The girls of this Class were the first to enter the Cooking Department of the Delland Township High School They served two luncheous; the first to Supt. and Mrs. Charles McIntosh and Prin. and Mrs. W. O. Jones, the second to the Faculty. This class, instructed by Miss Boling, was the originator of the Sandwich sales in the High School building. The I. Y. E. week was headed by the Sophomore class, and the English used in the presence of its members was oftimes highly censored. All the members of this class were claimed by the orchestra or glee clubs.

When the Class of '21 returned for its Junior work, three of its old members were not to be seen in their familiar places. Flora Bear had gone to Weldon, Dorothy McBride to Bioomington, and Ross, for various reasons of his own, did not wish to remain with his old classimates. Lodge sent another runior, Mabel Davis. Again, six were members of the or chestra. Brent and Lois were class representatives in the Preliminary Oratorical contest. Brent was also a representative in the County Oratorical contest. I shall never forget the Craimmar Room attended in a body. Lois was an important character in the comedy, "Box and Cox." and Essel in the drama, "The Elopment of Ellen." The crowning event of the Junior year was the Junior Senior banquet, carried out in Senior colors, old rose and green

A dignified (?) class of six Seniors returned in the fall of nineteen hundred and twenty with the expectation of enter ing the new high school building. Mabel decided to wait until next year to graduate. The class was small but just as important and prominent as any class of D. T. H. S. Seniors. Its members chose to wear class rings, a custom as new to the Seniors of DeLand as the "Gym" is to many H. S. pupils. Who won the contest in the sale of "Country Gentleman?" None other than the Seniors and Freshmen. Geneva won a prize an emay entitled "The Importance of Good Speech." Alas, Essel has "quituated!" This left to the Senior Class only one boy. Brent. In the second semester Lois was classed as a Senior, and through her efforts with her ukulele, she will be a member of the graduating class. The Redpath Lyceum Course was placed under the management of this class for the benefit of the Annual. And now five members represent the Senior Class in the Orchestra, and two in the High School band At present, the class is having a series of sandwich sales.

The greatest bonor bestowed upon this class is that of being the first class to graduate from the new building

Valedictory

We have come to the close of our high school life. It is a happy and yet and thing upon which to contemplate. We know what lies in this kind of life; we cannot know what lies ahead. Our years in DeLand Township High School have been crowded tall of happy associations; it is impossible that another four years of such care-free happiness can follow Because of this past training, we have a greater confidence and faith with which to face the future. But perhaps I speak too sadly, for the whole wide world lies before us, and we have the power within our grasp of molding our own lives.

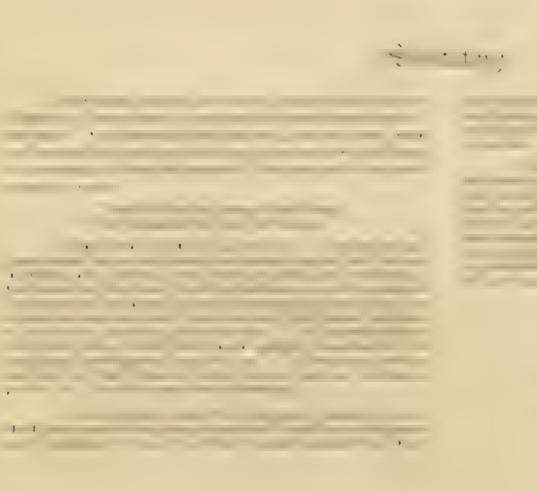

We, the Class of 1921, were the first to enter the De-Land Township High School. We boast proudly of the fact that we are the first class to graduate from the new building. We are aware that we owe all this to those who support this school and to that loyal group, the School Board; we students know and appreciate perhaps more than anyone else what they have given us, a building deserving the greatest praise and care. Then, too, we believe that our Faculty deserves commendation for its understanding and wisdom in all matters. But truly the greatest credit and honor must go to our parents, the ones who have made poossible both the competent School Board and the efficient Faculty. We go forth now from this building to take up whatever burdens may come. We pray that we may prove strong enough to carry them safely and honorably. And this is our farewell. We have endeavored to do something worth while which we might be remembered. If we have succeeded it is well. In a sense we have succeeded; and have gained for ourselves a surer knowledge of our responsibilities and a greater understanding of what we must do Classmates, it is time for us to pass from school life. May we always hold it as our dearest memory, but let us resolve to be worthy of this association. Let us endeavor to demonstrate that we can still carry on with that same spirit of courage, resolution, and integrity that has marked our school days.

And only the Master shall praise us, and only the Master shall blame.

And no one shall work for money, and no one shall work for blame,

But each for the joy of working, and each in his separate star Shall draw the thing as he sees it, for the God of the things as they are.

Class Prophecy

DeLand, Illinois, Oct. 19, 1932

Deat Mannies-

It must have been early in September of this year that I was in Indianapolis attending the meeting of which you wrote. Yes, I am sure it was because it was then that I saw Brent Cox. It has just occurred to me that perhaps you would like to know what the other Seniors of D. T. H. S. of '21 are doing.

As you know, I have always been a Democrat, so while I was in Indianapolis, I attended a Democratic rally. I noticed on the bills and in the papers that a Mr Cox of Illinois was the speaker, but I didn't think anything about it. I went early but I didn't pay much attention to the preliminary remarks because when one travels as much as I do, one gets tired of the same old phrases. Then the speaker was announced. "Mr J. Brent Cox of DeLand, Illinois, will give to us the address of the evening. He needs no further introduction, I'm sure. We all have heard him before and know how well he can present the Democratic cause."

Well, in the old high school slang. I nearly fell over As you are now, I had been in the West and didn't know what was going on back here. Brent made one of the finest pleas for Democratic rule that I have ever heard given for anything Can't you remember how he used to talk Republican party to us until we were sick? Thinking of that, I resolved to see him that very night. When the meeting was over, I met him at the stage entrance. He said he had been won over to the Democratic party (he would say nothing more) and his speech surely sounded that way. From the way he talked he must expect to be a cabinet member if his candidate gets the presidency. I certainly hope he obtains his desire

I have been rather anxious to find out how you like California for a home. It is too bad that Ross' business required you to move from the old home town

On my way back from Indianapolis I stopped in Chicago to hear Loui sing. Her voice becomes more wonderful every year. This winter she will appear for the first time in Grand Opera. But I wish you could have heard her the night I did! That music was the kind that makes one dream of bygone time and of air-castle hopes. Mine seemed almost to be fulfilled that night

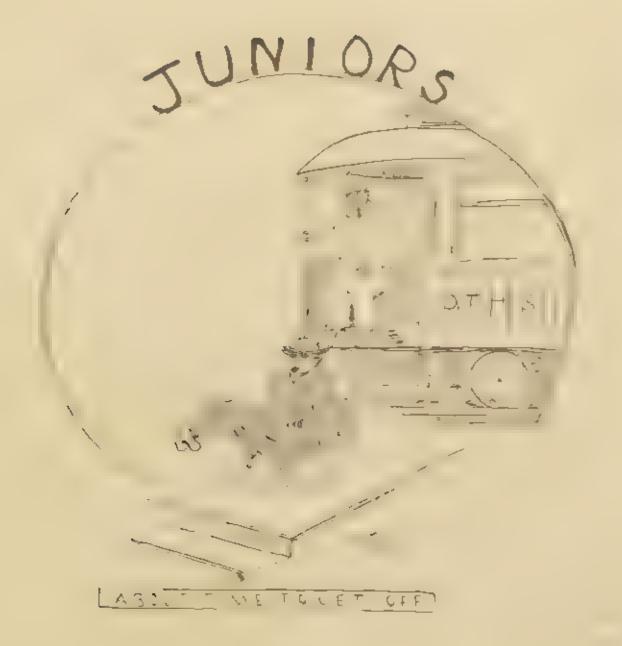

While I was in Chicago I stayed with Elizabeth. She is some kind of social advisor to the newly-nch. She told me all about her "work," but I didn't quite understand just what it is. She certainly does have a good time along with it, though. When I get settled in Boston this winter she is coming to visit me and she may go abroad with me in the pring.—when I go to get "atmosphere" for my stories.

I just arrived in DeLand yesterday for that long delayed visit. I saw Gasena this morning. She is teaching in D. T. H. S. and is getting along just "scrumbitious" as we used to say. I imagine, though, from the way she spoke, that she intends this to be her last year of school-teaching. A better work has offered itself. She said she would come up this afternoon. Why, here she is now! Write soon and remember, Minnie, that I want to know all about you and Ross.

They are often called the very best They used to be called so silly and green But things at first are not what they were They are an exception and no teacher a peta-And they will look out for themselves, you can bet They study hard from morning till night Their work is always done just right They are striving to get an education And all the teachers get nervous prostration Three of them play in the Orchestra and Band You ought to hear them play. Oh Land! The people clap their hands with joy The majority of them yell. Oh Boy! Some of them play on the basket ball team In the corner one can't find them, where they can't be seen But they get out on the floor and shoot a goal or two And show all the people what they can do In school spirit they have always done their full share A slacker in their midst is very rate Our boys on the track can simply fly And hope to become champions by and by The girls say they have a basket ball team

But up to this time it hasn't been.
All our girls and boys are bright and smart.
And folks can plainly see.
That they are not an ignorant bunch, but clever as can be.
Their teachers don't try for years to get things in their heads.
For they are more than eager to catch each word that's said.
So take a little bit of advice from them, it's natural that you should.

And listen to a lecture on "The Art of Being Good There is an advantage in being studious on ordinary days. And when Semesters loom in view, you'll find that study pays. You fellows who are dreaming your precious hours away You ridle souls are scheming to keep the wolf at bay You churlish clods, who ever, are hoaring up the pelf You selfish hulks, who never had a thought but self Don't waste in dreams, your idle schemes, for every moment pays

Your work begin, and be counted in on the record of future days. So

Happy are we met, happy have we been. Happy may we part, and happy meet again lulius Davis was considered one of the nic gentlemen in St. Faul. His mother took great pride in her ion of whom every one spoke so highly Master Davis was praised for more than his mannerly ways. Almost all of his schoolmates thought that Julius was the most likable boy in school. He was witty, cunning, and quick, he was a very interesting conversationalist, and senerally willing to do anythin, that he could for people this teachers and most of the school is of the Junior class praised him.

Andrew Allen data t make such a brilliant showing in the lumor class. For some reason, Andrew did not make acquaintances very readily, although he was just as mannerly lums.

On October the tweltth, there was to be a race among the hope of the school which Andrew and Julius attended

When Professor Daw had given the boys their places the pupils were amazed to find that Andrew Allen had been placed first runner on one side

With a sneer Julius turned to a friend and said, 'Well would you ever have thought that Professor Daw would place that Andrew Alen first runner? I am just sure that he can't do anything. I say, Andrew what che e do you think you stand of winning?

I may not win," said Andrew very calmly but I'll do my very best

O. Davis, don't let such trifles bother you." shout

When the time set for the occasion was drawing near Professor Daw came among the boys, giving each one of them a word of encouragement When the signs he race was given, away dashed the it was only a minute until andrew was taking the lead. As they drew near their day nation, Julius gained gh to reach the point first. Cheer after cheer rose from rowd for Julius, but not a word of encouragement did invhody give to Andrew

At the end of the race, Professor Daw announced that the Davis side had won the race in a rather teasing manner, Julius went to Andrew and remarked. Well, Allen, what is your opinion of the race?

I thought my team surely did it's best, and how about

Of course I would naturally think my team did very because it is the winning side. I don't feel that I did because I generally win in the contests.

Julius, I think your team did excellent work and you did very well

I thank you, Allen, but as I said before, I generally

y the wey. Davis, Professor Daw tells me we will have another proctice race on the sixteenth, and we will keep the same places.

Well, I am sure that is good of him. Say, Andrew i will give you time to practice and you really need practice

On the day of the race, Julius was very free hearted with his best wishes for Andrew

When the signal was given, away dashed the two boys as before — It wasn't long until Julius was taking the lead this time

As the people stood gazing islently at the scene before their eyes, they saw Andrew gaining, gaining, and finally pass Julius, and reach the destination several yards ahead of hin

The crowd was as alent as the crowd before which Abraham Lincoln made his noted speech. All the people were so astonished that they couldn't cheer

After the outcome of the race had been announced Professor Daw came to Andrew and said, "Andrew, you did exceedingly well, but how did you manage to win?

Mr. Daw, I won a prize in the first race. I started to run with all my might at the very beginning of the race, and so, I tired before I reached the point, and let Julius pass me. My prize in the first race was practice. When I start of this rice, I knew my weak points and tried to improve them. On the other hand, Julius was so sure of winning, that he was too autonished to run when I overtook him."

Professor Daw stood for a few minutes deep in thought, then Andrew broke the spell

I am sorry, Mr Daw, I know Julius is always first in every thing, and I know he will feel hurt, but I just had to pass him."

Then Professor Daw spoke, "Andrew, don't worry about Julius. I was just thinking how few boys are thoughtful enough to do and think as you did. I heartily congratulate you, my boy. You surely did well."

With a hearty handshake, Andrew sai . I thank you, Professor "

There were four toyous birthday parties of this school year and one class party

Thankagiving Party

The first of our parties was held November the thiteenth in the Methodist church. We were pleasantly enter tained. Refreshments served were: Cocoa, chicken sand wiches, pickles and obves. Each of us was given a name some food that would be seen on the table at a Thunksgiving dinner. We were asked to write a poem about this food and tel why we liked it best. Mr and Mrs. Craig received the prizes for the best poems. A few questions asked in one game were answered thus

Junior Class Party (Some say they danced)

On the evening of December the seventeenth, all the and Faculty were entertained at the home of Bernice wartz. Next year's staff officers were elected in all way. They chose sides, the 'Cumps' and the 'Cooties Fach side put up its condidate for the different staff offices hump speeches given by the candidates caused much excitement. From eleven o'clock on entil early morning hours the time was spent in dancing. (Of course by this time the Faculty was sound asleep)

Backward Party

The third party was a 'backward' affair, held Febru ry the twenty sixth. When we arrived we found the front toors of the school house locked and a sign which read, "Go o the back door" (every one was received at the back door except one of the Faculty, who chimbed in the window). We were greeted at the back door by the reception committee, with a chorus of "good bye" and "come back again." Refresh ents were served in the manual tooth picks, pickles, marshmallows, pie ala mode sandwiches, cocoa, plat and napkins. Meer a pleasant we were greeted by Good morning" and 'Glad to

The Lecture Course

The Redpath Lyceum Bureau of Chicago, is the company that had charge of this lecture course. The sale of kets was in the hands of the Seniors and the proceeds were given to them.

There were four numbers in the course. The first wen on January twenty-ninth, was presented by the Novelty Four Company. This company was made up of four young men, a pianist, violinist, cornetist, and one who played the clarinet. Their program was divided into several parts; votal, instrumental orchestral etc. The numbers were varied and pleasing and the entertainment was truly a "novelty" one

On February the seventeenth, Ralph Parlette, a welknown lecturer and editor, gave us his lecture on "The Big Business of Life." His main point was this—"The big business of life is to make a success of one's self and to obtain hap though he used a great deal of humor in his lecture, the main

Idea of his talk sank deep into the minds of the people.

The third number of the lecture course was given on March, the eleventh. This was a lecture by William Rainey Bennett on the subject, "The Min Who Can." At the base of Mr. Bennett's lecture was the old saying, "He can, who thinks he can." He enlarged upon this thought in many ways. His ppintons were expressed ably and convincingly

Last, but not least, came the High School Orchestra and Band Concert given on April, the seventh. This was the best concert that has been given for some time and it showed that much time and effort had been spent on it by the di-

"The Country Gendeman"

Sometime during the fall of nineteen hundred and twenty. Mr. Allen, a representative of the Curtis Publishing Co., visited the DeLand High School

Previous to this time he had visited other schools in Central Illinois. His purpose in coming was to get the pupils to sell subscriptions for the Country Gentleman. Half of the proceeds were to go to the school. This gave the school money with which things needed for the school could be pur chased, for example, pictures, magazines, or books

A suggestion was made at this time that the High School be divided into two groups, the Juniors and Sophomores, and the Seniors and Freshmen. These two groups work ed against each other; their object was to see which could sell the greater number of subscriptions to the Country Gentleman. This caused a very exciting time among the classes. The pupils started on the campaign as soon as school was dismissed, selling the subscriptions at one dollar each. On a certain it is the contest closed. The subscriptions sold on each side were counted and it was found that the beniers and Fresh men won the contest

Our share of the proceeds was used to buy pictures. The pictures that were bought are "Aurora" and "Atalanta's R c Atalanta was an Arcadian, and the daughter of lasus lymene. When her father wished her to marry, she ide it a condition that every one of her suitors show the with her in a foot race. She promised to marry the one who would win. She was beaten by Milanian, for in the race he dropped three golden apples and she stopped to pick them up. Aurora was the goddess of dawn. Every morning she rose from her couch to announce the coming of the sun, in a chariot drawn by swift horses.

Benny and Bob Go To the Carnival

Benny was arrayed in his "unday best," ready to go to the Carnival. His mother gave him a handkerchief and out the door he flew, to join his friend, who was now almost to the corner

"Wait a minute, Bob," he cried, for Benny's mother had given him so many instructions before he left that he had forgotten his pocket-book. At last Benny was on his way, after having asked Dad, Mother and sister for money to fill his purse

"Gee, we're goin' to have a grand time, ain't we Bob?"
"Yes," agreed Bob, excitedly

Those Seniors are always doing something, aren't they?" replied Bob. It was the night of May, the seventh that the Seniors of D. T. H. S. were giving a carnival to earn money to publish the Annual

It was surprising to see how soon the two boys were at the entrance of the high school building, but Benny and Bob were great huitlers, when a good time was in sig

I guess we're not early," said Benny, "For just look, the half's full!" Benny and Bob were small and could easily make their way

'Pop-com and Candy, right here' came a cry. Of course Benny and Bob bought some candy and pop-com. Bob stubbed his toe and spilled his pop-com, but he still had his pocket-book, so he pushed on

See this next attraction—a gypsy and a victrola?"
Bob and Benny squeezed their way up to the victrola and to their delight a doll was dancing on it. They watched her with eyes wide open. Then Benny looked up at the gypsy and said, "She can shimmy about as well as my sia."

The boys decided to have their fortunes told, but because of the long line waiting, they would have to come back later

Mother wants me to be an artist, guess ['Il visit the art gallery," said Bob. "Well, my mother says when we go

Digh School Orchestra

Four short years have past since our D. T. H. S. Or lest was any moved in the transit of ance that time. The organization started with eighteen members, most of whom were inexperienced players. During that first year the Orchestra gave one concert and furnished the music for Commencement

At the beginning of the school term in the fall of 1916, the Orchestra continued its work along the line of progress. This year two concerts were given, and music was supplied by the organization for the class play, a club program, and for Commencement.

The third year of the life of the Orchestra showed even greater progress, since most of the members were more experienced in work of this kind than those before them. The Orchestra appeared before the public more than ever this year. Two concerts were given; music was furnished for High School plays are entert in each and severa that the trips were taken. These were to Monticello, to play for a teachers meeting, and to Bethel and Lodge for Commencement exercises. The usual work of that nature was also done at home

This, the fourth year of our Orchestra, closes a period of struggle. Up to this time our Orchestra has been very un-

The Orchestra owes much to its director for his untimag efforts

The Orchestra has given two concerts this year, the first at the opening of the new building, January twentieth; the second, as a Lecture Course number on April seventh. The organization played for two of Dr. H. G. Paul's lectures, for a Warrant of the High School and for the Pre-liminary contest. The regular Commencement music was also furnished.

Digh School Dand

Our High School has another organization of which it is justly proud; this is the Band. Its purpose and aim, like that of the Orchestra, is to furnish music for all High School entertainments and activities. It has always served this purpose very creditably under the able leadership of Mr. Harry F. Merry

The Band was organized April thirteenth, 1920, with seventeen members. It was heard by the public for the first time ten days later at the Preliminary Oratonical contest. It is ompanied our contestants to Monticello for the County Contest and there distinguished itself

This year there are nineteen members in the Band and there are almost as many different kinds of instruments. The Band, together with the orchestra, gave a concert for the opening of the new titch below banding on January twentieth it gave its second concert on April seventh, as a number of the Lyceum Course. A trip was made to Bethel and music furnished for an entertainment there on May fifth. The Band was confident transh music for other things before the school term is over

The most worthy powers in the High School are developed for the Band and Orchestra work. The highest sim and aspirations are instilled in the minds of the members of these organizations.

Our Basket Ball Ceam

Our Basketball season opened on September 29, with the Nixon Township High School team of Weldon, as our opponents. Although the team had had only about a week of practice they gave a good account of themselves. The game was fast and interesting, and it was with difficulty that the visitors managed to finish on the long end of an 18 to 22 score

The return game with Weldon was played on Oct. 14, at Weldon. This game was of the same type as the first, and a typical Weldon DeLand game, but we were defeated by a 20 to 31 score.

Our third game was played at Argenta In this game we plainly exhibited a case of the "buck ague." After having had the score 4 to 0, at the end of the first penod, the rest of the game went wrong, and the score at the end of the contest was 28 to 10 against.

Our next game, with Cerro Gordo proved to be one of the best of the season. At the end of the first period our opponents were leading by a 5 to 2 score. Early in the second period they had increased their lead to 11 to 2, but by a bril hant exhibition of teamwork and basket shooting, we forged ahead and when time was called at the end of the half we were leading 16 to 11. Things were about even during the remainder of the contest, Cerro Gordo scoring 10 points while we were scoring eleven, thus making the score at the end of the game 27 to 21 in our favor

This was our last game until February 5th, when on this and the following Saturday nights we defeated Independent teams in practice games by scores of 20 to 8 and 16 to 11, respectively

On February 19th the Monticello Seconds came for a game. This game was marked by the good defensive work of both teams and but few short shots were allowed during the evening. The contest was interesting and hard fought, but we emerged victors by an 11 to 8 score.

On February 26th we lost to Mansfield on our own floor by a 31 to 15 score. No one but Capt. Liestman was able to locate the hoop. He came through with all of our points, scoring 7 field baskets and a free throw.

On March 4, we journeyed to Bement, only to meet with a 36 to 13 defeat there.

Our last game before the tournament was played at Mansheld on March 5th. Loose guarding, together with in ability to get accustomed to the small floor and no side lines were the thief factors of our 21 to 39 deteat

After showing up rather poorly during the season, and being so unlucky as to draw the fast Clinton High team for our game in the district tournament at Decatur, it was doped out that they would give us a runaway besting. But luck was with us and with each member of the team playing his best game of the season. Clinton was held to a 31 to 17 score. Our opponents were forced to play at top speed and fight for every point they got. At half time Chinton was leading by only 3 points, the score being 11 to 14. At no time during the contest was Clinton's lead sufficient to be safe so that second string men could be put in. It might be added that Clinton won second place in the tournament, loung only to the fast Decatur High quintet which was considered among the fastest in the state.

As far as scores are concerned, the 1920-1921 Basket Ball season can hardly be said to have been a success, but each defeat was taken good naturedly and in a good sports man like manner. It could hardly be expected that a winning team be developed the first year indoor basket ball is renewed. We succeeded in reviving the old athletic spirit in D, T. H. S., which has for several years been lying dormant. With all of this year's squad, with the exception of two members, back again next year and other promising material to draw from, we predict a winning team for D. T. H. Sinext season.

Track and Field

For the first time in several years, track and field work became a part of the sports engaged in by D. T. H. S. In the fall of 1920, a cross country relay team was organized. Each sunner on this team ran a half mile. Two relay races were scheduled, one with Weldon, and the other with Monticello. While we did not win either of these races, several of our runners made very creditable showings. In the race with Weldon we finished with a lead of about 220 yards, but owing to the fact that we had allowed an illegible runner to enter we were not awarded the race.

The County Track Meet was the only meet entered this year. The contestants and the events in which they entered are as follows: Chancy in the pole vault, standing and running broad jumps, running high jump, 50, 100, 220-yard dashes, C. Ablinch in the pole vault and standing broad jump: B Cox in the 220 yard dash, running high jump, standing broad jump, quarter and half mile runs: T. Ablinch in the 50, 100, and 220-yard dashes, running broad jump, and quarter mile run. L. Cox in the 50 and 100 yard dashes. Liestman in the pole vault and half mile run, I. Rinehart in the half mile run. Gilmore in the quarter mile, E. Sparrow in the running broad jump: Trimby, McMillen, and Adams in the shot-put. The half-mile telay team was composed of T. Ablincha, B. Cox, L. Cox and R. Chaney

We succeeded in scoring 12 points in this meet. Chancy won first in the standing broad jump, and third in the 100-yard dash; C. Ahinch won second in the standing broad jump, Liestman won second in the half mile run.

This is the first year DeLand Township High School has employed a teacher for Physical Training Classes. The girls were just a little in doubt as to whether they should enjoy this kind of work, but after a few periods under Miss Ennis "P T the hour. Whether or not it is a fad

Owing to the conflict in studies, two classes of Physical Training were arranged for, to meet two days a week, every fuesday and Thursday. Besides the regular canathenics ball games and folk dances were indulged in. By the way if every girl doesn't know left from right, don't blan. He finns. One of the results of these classes was an interest in athletics, especially basketball and tennimuch discussion, the girls were allowed the use of the great more noon and one evening after school during each the girls were the regulation black bloomers and white middles with black ties. In this apparel they appeared in the park, April thurseth, and gave several folk dances for the Clean up Day program.

To conjecture the good that Physical Training does for the Fligh School girls is next to impossible. It is a well known fact that girls do not exercise enough in the right way. Under the supervision of an able teacher like we had this year, every girl is given an opportunity to develop in a physical as well separatel way. 1 T SEE SEEK

Agriculture Department

Vocational Agriculture is designed for students intending to follow agricultural occupations. Soils, crops, horiculture, ofericulture, and plant enemies, are the subjects covered by the Sophomore class. Animal husbandry, which includes the study of horses, cattle, swine, sheep, poultry and animal pathology is the subject of Junior effort.

In addition to the regular class work, each student conducts a project, the nature of which is of his own choosing Vegetables gardening and rejuvenating an old orchard are examples of projects chosen by Sophomore boys. Unusual interest in Swine Husbandry prevailed in the Junior class. Six of the boys chose swine projects, while others decided to work with dairy cattle, sheep and poultry Althout is quite impossible to study agriculture without a theoretical foundation, every effort has been directed toward making the work strictly vocational. Vocational education must, from the nature of the subject, include a certain amount of vocational training and consequently much of the work is away from the class room.

In the study of Agronomy, it was necessary to go to the field for practice in picking seed corn, while for judging, the corn was brought to the building. Germination tests were made for seed corn in the spring

The new sprayer, belonging to the school, is in constant demand and the boys are quite proficient in using it

The Ahimal Husbandry class spent much time in judging live-stock. Special emphasis was placed on the judging of draft horses, beef cattle, dairy cattle, and swine, but some attention was given both sheep and poultry. Two trips were made to the University of Illinois for the purpose of attending a Live-stock Judging contest and to visit the experimental farms at the College of Argiculture

Both classes assisted in planting trees to beautify the school grounds and their effort in this and in class will be appreciated as the years pass

"HER MAGIC COW"

Mary has a little cow
Its coat is soft as silk,
And every time that Mary nods
It gives a quart of milk

It follows her about the yard And life is like a dream. And every time that Mary studes It gives a pint of cream

This other fact, amazing.
I hesitate to utter
And yet 'tis true, if Mary laughts
This little cow gives butter

And even more automaking
Does Mary chance to meeze,
Her pretty little Jersey pet
Produces Cottage cheese
